

DOT
GALLO FAMILY VINEYARDS

Five years ago, vineyard manager Dennis Devitt found a skinny, weak Dalmatian puppy. Today Dot is a healthy runner and obedient companion. Every morning, Dot hops in the truck and Dennis drives to a vineyard. Full of excitement, she flies through the rows, never losing sight of the truck and always listening for Dennis's call. Even when she's pursuing a rabbit alongside newly planted vines, she'll stop dead in her tracks when Dennis calls and run to his side. When she's not running, she's a companion to all who stop by the Gallo Family Vineyards Laguna Ranch office. On at least three occasions, Dot has run happily up to what she seems to think is a black-and-white cat. Dennis has tried, yet failed, to convince her that the playmate is actually a skunk. Fortunately, the patient skunk has not exacted revenge for Dot's misidentification.

